

Let Organizational Performance Soar in 2007!

By Carol Bergeron

I am delighted to announce that the Executive Summary, from the Enterprise Performance Management Study conducted earlier this year by Bergeron AssociatesTM and Insight Management Group, is now available. It contains practical tips on what top performing companies do to achieve their strategic goals time after time.

You may recall the study explored practices used by executives to manage and improve enterprise performance and align human capital and project management initiatives to strategic direction. Over 100 executives representing 20 states and 9 industries shared their experience through one-on-one interviews and the completion of an online survey. We captured their insight and more in the Executive Summary.

I encourage you to read the summary when you want a fresh perspective on improving organizational performance. And what better time than now with 2007 on the immediate horizon.
